~ Remember When ~

The average price for a gallon of gas was 18 cents in 1950 and 25 cents by the end of the decade(TODAY $3.50-4.50 a gallon). In 1959, a new car cost on average $2,200. A one-carat diamond ring was $399 (compared to $4,125 today). A woman could buy a basic dress for just $3.29

April Fools' Day or April Fool's Day is an annual custom on 1 April consisting of practical jokes and hoaxes. Jokesters often expose their actions by shouting "April Fools!" at the recipient. Mass media can be involved in these pranks, which may be revealed as such the following day. The day is not a public holiday in any country. The custom of setting aside a day for playing harmless pranks upon one's neighbor has been relatively common in the world historically.

Peanut Butter and Jelly

April 2nd is National Peanut Butter and Jelly Day, also known as National PB&J Day, a classic American childhood food that we can't resist even as adults. An improbable but irresistible combination, A peanut butter and jelly sandwich (PB&J) consists of peanut butter and fruit preserves—jelly—spread on bread. The sandwich may be open-faced, made of a single slice of bread folded over, or made between two slices of bread. The sandwich is popular in the United States, especially among children; a 2002 survey showed the average American will eat 1,500 before graduating from high school.

History of National Peanut Butter and Jelly Day

Peanut butter was introduced at the Chicago World's Fair in 1883 and was originally considered to be a delicacy to be enjoyed by the higher classes. It was sold in New York's city's finest tea rooms, and paired with savory foods like cheese, saltines, celery, and watercress. It was in 1896 that a recipe in Good Housekeeping magazine first urged people to try spreading peanut butter on bread.

Julia Davis Chandler is credited with creating what we now know as the peanut butter and jelly sandwich. In 1901, Chandler published a recipe in the Boston Cooking School Magazine. The recipe called for three layers of bread, one layer of peanut butter, and one of currant jelly.

As the production of peanut butter increased, the prices dropped, making it more accessible to all classes. In the 1920s, the invention of sliced bread revolutionized not only the world but also American children's school lunches and snacks, as it allowed them to easily make their own sandwiches. And the big favorite was the PB&J. A classic that has remained popular until this day.

In fact, peanut butter and jelly sandwiches are so beloved in the United States, that peanut butter and jelly have been on the US Army's military ration list since World War II.
