August is National Sandwich Month

The concept of having a filling between two pieces of bread was popularized in England by John Montagu, the 4th Earl of Sandwich.

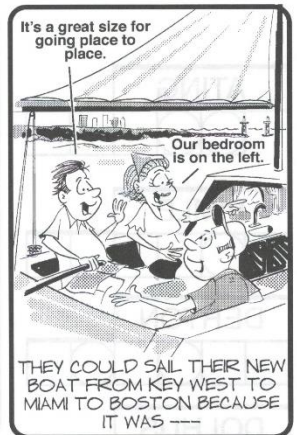

The Earl ordered his cook to prepare a meal that he could eat with one hand while still playing during a major gambling match. The cook placed sliced meat between two pieces of bread which could also be eaten with one hand.

The basic concept of the sandwich long predates the Earl of Sandwich. The ancient Jewish sage Hillel the Elder is said to have wrapped lamb-meat between two pieces of matzoh (unleavened bread) during Passover. Early versions of the "wrap" have also been found in Asia and Africa.
