Mother's Day

The modern holiday of Mother's Day was first celebrated in 1907, when Anna Jarvis held a memorial for her mother. Her campaign to make Mother's Day a recognized holiday in the United States began in 1905, She had been a peace activist who cared for wounded soldiers on both sides of the American Civil War, and created Mother's Day Work Clubs to address public health issues. She and another peace activist and suffragette Julia Ward Howe had been urging for the creation of a "Mother's Day dedicated to peace", 40 years before it became an official holiday, Owing to the efforts of Anna Jarvis, by 1911 all U.S. states observed the holiday, with some of them officially recognizing Mother's Day as a local holiday. In 1914, Woodrow Wilson signed a proclamation designating Mother's Day, held on the second Sunday in May, as a national holiday to honor mothers.

"Mother's" should "be a singular possessive, for each family to honor its own mother, not a plural possessive commemorating all mothers in the world."

May is American Cheese Month

May is American Cheese Month!

Melt it, toast it, or add it to a salad. In the United States, we enjoy quite a list of American cheeses. According to the USDA, Americans consumed 34 pounds of cheese per capita in 2015, and they have steadily increased that amount over the last 20 years. We love our cheese. There are so many ways we enjoy it. We add it to soups, salads, pizza and so much more. By itself, it's a go-to snack. We Love. Cheese. Even better than that, we love American cheeses!
